FOUR GUIDING PRINCIPLES.
ONE HUMAN NEED.

We believe in people:
We respect the dignity of all people.

We keep it local:

We believe that water, sanitation, and hygiene problems are most effectively solved using local resources.

We keep good company:

We search out trusted partners who share our vision and work together to build longterm relationships based on trust.

We keep our promises:

We believe we owe it to the communities we serve, our volunteers, staff, and donors to act with integrity and manage our resources effectively and efficiently.

History

In the early 1980's, Ken Miller, a former President of the American Water Works Association (AWWA) and Senior Vice President of CH2M Hill, Wayne Weiss, with Black & Veatch, and John B. Mannion, a former Executive Director of AWWA, shared the heartfelt vision of a world where all people have access to clean water, adequate sanitation, and basic health services. Working in collaboration with AWWA leadership, they put this idea into motion, transforming it into the social responsibility of the water industry.

In 2014, Water For People invested $16.7 million in the nine countries in which it partners. This was supplemented by $3.9 million from governments, local partners and communities, for a total investment of $20.6 million towards ending water and sanitation poverty. Water For People is supporting the government of Bihar, India, offering its model to develop a roadmap that will help 100 million people.

Mission

Water For People works with people and partners to develop innovative and long-lasting solutions to the water, sanitation, and hygiene problems in the developing world. Water For People strives to continually improve, to experiment with promising new ideas, and to leverage resources to multiply their impact. Water For People is an international nonprofit development organization. All proceeds from the tournament benefit Water For People.
